

I am a subscriber to XM Radio. I live in a relatively small city, so I don't currently use the traffic and weather stations on XM regularly, but I do travel and may soon have the need. The federal government does not need to regulate a radio station that costs me to listen.

The federal government does not need to protect one industry to the detriment of another.

I love my XM Radio and I wish the company the best. I don't want to see honest competition and innovation choked by the US Government.

Thank you.

Charles Elliott